The screenshot shows the DataverseNO website interface. The browser address bar displays "dataverse.no". The website header includes the DataverseNO logo, the text "Open Research Data", a search dropdown, and a "Deposit Guide" link. A "Certified by: CORE TRUST SEAL" badge is visible. The main content area is divided into two columns. The left column lists search filters: "Distributor Name" (with links to UiT, NORD, UiB, Tromsø, and NTNU), "Subject" (with links to Earth and Environmental Sciences, Physics, Medicine, Arts and Humanities, and Social Sciences), "Keyword Term" (with links to ionosphere, aurora, SUN-EARTH INTERACTIONS, ionodata, and ionogram), and "Author Name" (with a link to Tromsø Geophysical Observatory). The right column displays three search results for replication data, each with a document icon, a title, a date, and a citation. The first result is for "Perinatal exposure to a human relevant mixture of persistent organic pollutants" by Johanson, Silje Modahl (2021). The second is for "Devonian–Carboniferous collapse and segmentation of the Billefjorden Trough" by Koehl, Jean-Baptiste P. (2020). The third is for "The Billefjorden Fault Zone north of Spitsbergen: A major terrane boundary?" by Koehl, Jean-Baptiste (2021).

Sensitive datasets cannot be public

- Trust issues [Bongartz et al. 2017]
- Easy to identify individuals [Salerno et al. 2017, Goodman and Meslin 2014]
- Consent revocations (GDPR, GPDPR)
- Tromsø study - 'taushetsplikt'

We need system support for dynamic security policies

Sensitive data leads to silos

Tension between

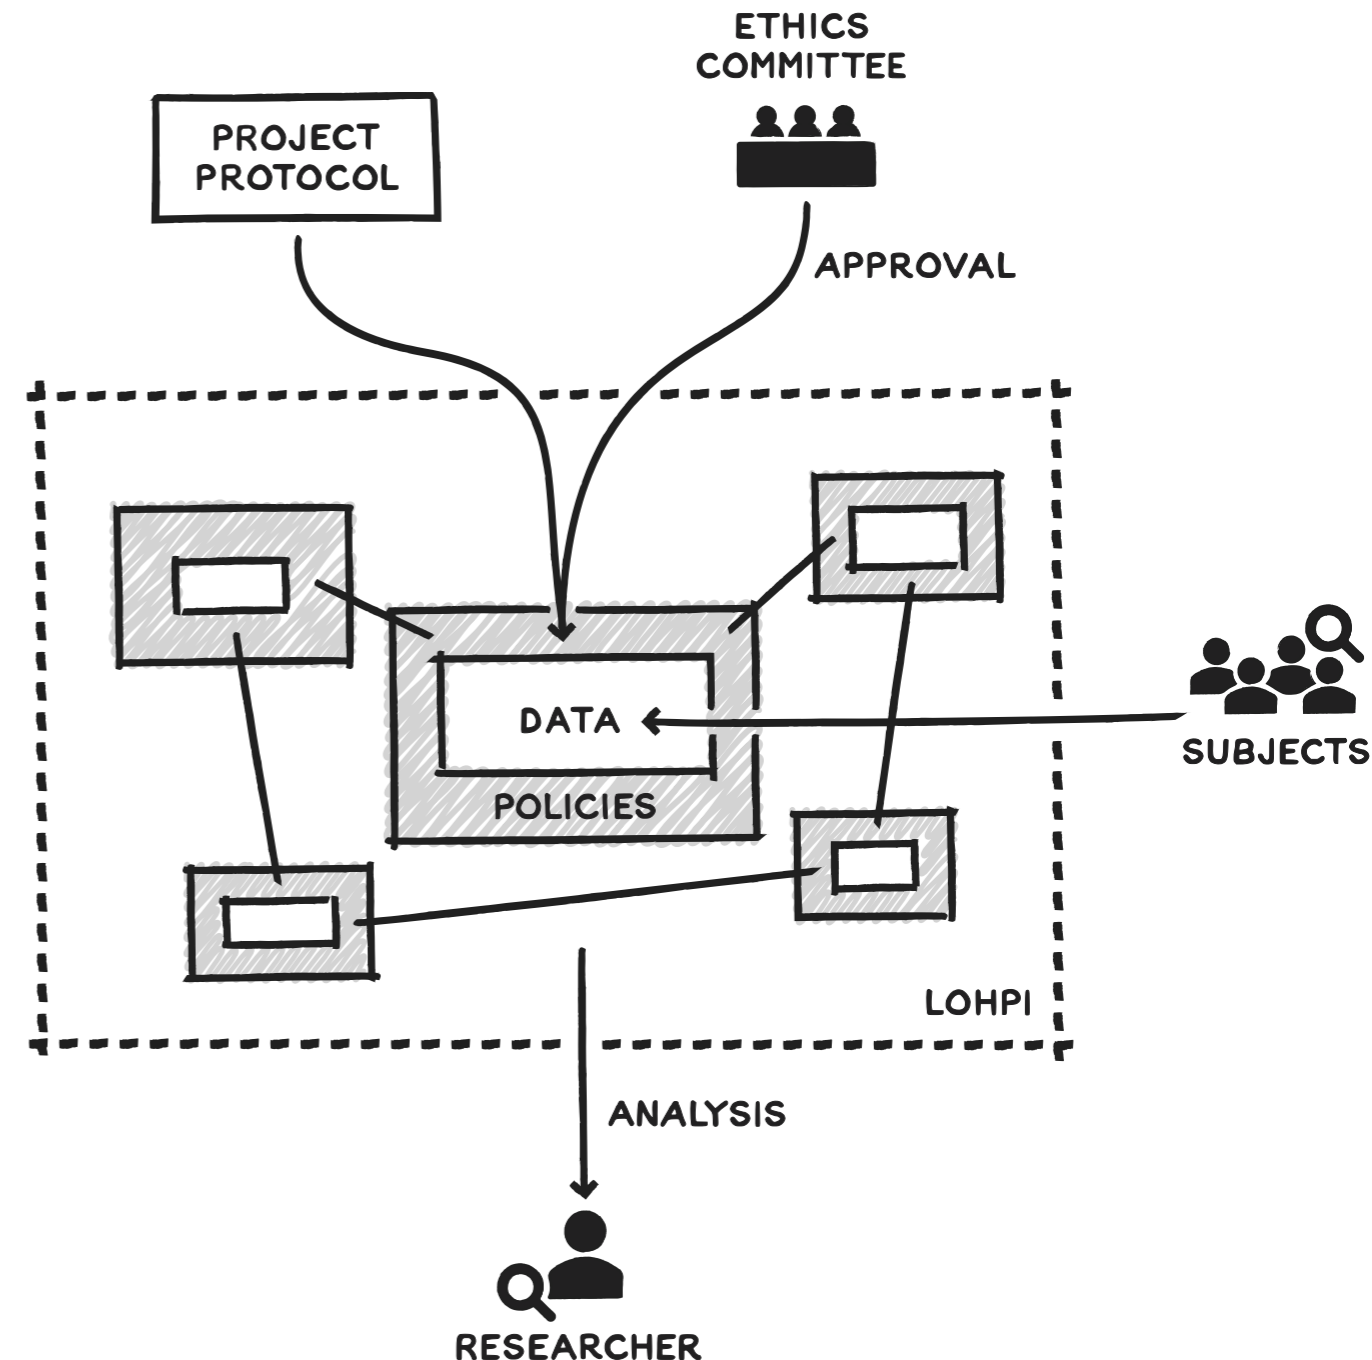

- Open research (public data)
 - ▶ Decentralized research model
 - ▶ Operate on institutional infrastructure
- Privacy risks
 - ▶ Projects operate in silos
 - ▶ Shared computational infrastructure (trusted by all parties, TSD)
